

STAGE IS SET FOR BEGINNING OF THE CLARA SMITH TRIAL

Widow of the Murdered Oil Man Arrived at Ardmore Today.

(By the Associated Press)
ARDMORE, Mar. 9.—Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, widow of the oil millionaire and politician, for whose alleged murder Clara Smith Hamon will go on trial tomorrow in Carter county district court, arrived in Ardmore early today. Mrs. Hamon has been subpoenaed as a witness for the state.
She was followed on the next train by James O'Brien, famous in Cook county, Illinois, court rooms as an assistant county attorney with a reputation for pleading for capital punishment in criminal cases.
Mr. O'Brien has been retained by Mrs. Hamon as her personal attorney. He appeared today in the hotel lobby wearing a red neck tie and said that the part he would play in the prosecution of Clara Smith Hamon depended upon a conference today with Attorney General Freeling, who is in charge of the prosecution.
Witnesses summoned from outside of Ardmore began to arrive today and both the defense and state counsel announced as ready for the trial's opening tomorrow.

Military Band To Come for Concert Tomorrow Night

The Oklahoma A. & M. college military band will appear in concert here tomorrow night in the Normal auditorium. The band has been touring the state for the past week and will arrive in the city tomorrow afternoon from Holdenville. They are accompanied by Boh Makovsky, director of the band, and Misses Mabel Foster, Elizabeth Morehardt, and Mr. Frank Kladyk, soloist, and Miss Faye Vermillion, accompanist, who will also take part in the evening's entertainment.

Many beautiful selections will be given by the band, which is composed of 72 pieces and an evening of real military music will be given. The band is probably the largest in the state, has received welcomes from all the leading cities of the state and is experienced. The program will be made more interesting by the occasional numbers given by Miss Foster on the saxophone, Miss Morehardt as soprano and Frank Kladyk as violinist.
The program tomorrow night will probably be the greatest band concert to be given here in some time.

JUDGES RECEIVE NEW PRESIDENT AND WIFE

Ada Justice Dismisses Case

Afraid New Rule Would Not Stand

Bessie Simkins, a negro, known to the police of Ada and frequenters of the dark side of town as "Black Bess," had her day in court yesterday and is today a free nigger. The charge against the defendant was "grand larceny from the person of a white man in the night time," on or about the 25th of February, last, but Black Bess proved to the satisfaction of Justice H. J. Brown, before whom the preliminary was held, that on the night of the alleged robbery a holiness meeting was in progress in Darktown and that she attended said meeting in her own proper person.
The prosecuting witness told of starting through Darktown on a business errand the night of February 25. He had just crossed the Frisco tracks on Broadway when he was accosted by a negro woman who undertook to place her arms around him and beguile him from the beaten path of life. He spurned her efforts and continued on his way but

Thieves Make Raid on Sheriff's Private Locker

Burglars entered the sheriff's store room at the court house last night and stole a large quantity of Jamaica ginger and corn whiskey which was being held as evidence against violators of the prohibition law. One large barrel and two cans of the Jamaica ginger and one gallon of the whiskey were located and returned to the store room this morning, but the officers are of the opinion that some of the liquor is still in the hands of the thieves.
Mr. Yancey, who lives at Portland park called Sheriff Duncan early this morning and told him that he found a barrel of "jake" in his front yard and two cans of the same beverage and a gallon of whiskey on his porch when he started to work today. The sheriff went to Mr. Yancey's home and discovered that it was some of the liquor which he had been holding in his locker to be used as evidence, and returned it to its place.
Mr. Yancey could throw no light on the peculiar case. He knew nothing of its presence until he started to leave his home this morning. The sheriff is led to believe that the party who took the liquor made a mistake and delivered it to the wrong place.
Apparently entrance was gained to the sheriff's locker through one of the doors by the use of a skeleton key. The court house is not locked during the night and only ordinary locks are used on the doors of the locker. An invoice of the room has not been completed and the officers are unable to say with any degree of certainty how much more of the liquor was taken.

ASSASSINS KILL SPANISH PREMIER

Shot Last Night On Way Home From Senate Chamber.

(By the Associated Press)
MADRID, Mar. 9.—The city was horrified last night when it became known that Eduardo Data, Premier and Minister of Marine, had been assassinated while returning to his home from a late session of the Spanish senate. Immediately after the message was received in official quarters, arrangements were made to carry on the government until a new premier could be appointed.
All trace of the men who killed the premier was lost in the excitement and confusion following the assassination. Immediately after the crime had been committed, the criminals, who were riding in the side car of a motorcycle sped away and disappeared.
When the motorcycle had drawn up even with the automobile the driver of the machine opened fire at the premier, 21 shots being discharged. The whole tragedy was enacted in a few moments, and as the last shot rang out the motorcycle swung into a side street and vanished. The premier was conscious when taken from the auto, but collapsed in a few minutes and died while being rushed to a hospital. He had three wounds in the back of his head. The car in which he was riding was riddled with bullets.

Petrograd is in Hands of Revolutionary Force

Thousands of Fugitives Are Trying to Escape Into Finland.

(By the Associated Press)
COPENHAGEN, March 9.—Petrograd is reported to be in the hands of revolutionary forces which for several days have been fighting against Russian bolshevik troops near that city, says a dispatch from Helsingfors received here this morning.
The revolutionary forces were victorious, the dispatch declared, after a terrific bombardment of Petrograd from Kronstadt and other places, which was followed by machine gun battles in the streets of the city.
COPENHAGEN, March 9.—News of the Russian situation today was conflicting with the latest Helsingfors dispatch reporting that the soviet government forces had recaptured the fortresses of Cranera, Gorka and Systerbak, this morning and were turning big guns of these fortresses upon Kronstadt, where general fires were observed.
An infantry assault by the soviet troops upon Kronstadt is reported to have been repulsed with enormous losses to the attacking forces.
These reports were preceded by claims in Helsingfors dispatches that Petrograd is in the hands of the revolutionists.
According to a Reval special, however, the soviet troops recaptured the southeastern suburbs of Petrograd. Thousands of fugitives from Petrograd are clamoring for entry into Finland, the Finnish advice state.

Soviet Workers Indignant
LONDON, March 9.—Workers in soviet Russia are unanimously indignant over the revolutionary uprising at Kronstadt and are beginning to be allowed to fight against the forces engaged with soviet troops there, says a wireless dispatch from Moscow.
It is said in the district that friction is noticeable among the mutineers.
The tenth congress of the Russian communist party opened at Moscow yesterday under difficult circumstances, the dispatch says.
The republic is surrounded by an endless number of enemies, it continues. The short breathing space given Russia having been interrupted by new entente intrigues.

Good Roads Motor club will meet behind closed doors Friday 7:30 p. m. at the district court room. No one permitted to attend but paid members and those invited.

High School Play Is Success; Large Crowd Is Present

The operatta, "Love Pirates of Hawaii," which was given by the High school choruses last evening in the Normal auditorium was a great success. Those who took part in the play were at their best and acquitted themselves well. The scenes and events of the play were given the proper tinge by songs, costumes and the general ability of the actors.

There was a large attendance, and an appreciative audience applauded each number and act. This is the first event of the year in which the High school has presented a play to the public of Ada and those who had charge of the affair are well pleased with the success of it and with the manner in which it was received by the public.
Miss Reva Anderson as Dorothy Dear, Hubert Priest, as Billie Woods, Viola West as Miss Primer, Charles Cunningham as the Pirate Chief and Harry West as the Pirate Scary, were the leading characters of the play and they all did their part well. Boys' and girls' choruses also took part in the songs and they convinced themselves in a manner pleasing to all.
Miss Sarah Tunnell also took active part in the evening's entertainment by giving a Hawaiian dance. She was heartily received by the audience and in a most graceful manner went through the dance. This number was highly pleasing to those present and well received. Miss Donaldson of the High school faculty had charge of the affair.

Dispatches from Panama City say that when the Costa Rican expeditionary forces withdrew from the three captured towns, Panama troops sent to repel them also were recalled.

SENATE HOLDS SECRET SESSION

Close Doors To Discuss Subject of Harding's First Message.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—Ratification of the long pending treaty of Colombia is urged by President Harding in his first formal message sent today to the senate.
Immediately upon receipt of the message the senate went into executive session, the usual procedure in taking up treaties.
The text of the message was not made public at the White House, officials there holding that it was executive business and could only be made public by the senate. The senate closed its doors with out making the message public.

OLD BRICK HOUSE HAS WITNESSED MANY TRAGEDIES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—For more than half a century an old brick house has lowered down on passersby in "H" street. It has looked precisely as it looked on that dark day when Abraham Lincoln lay dead from an assassin's bullet and Mrs. Mary E. Surratt was haled forth from the old structure to pay with her life for complicity in the assassination plot.
The house was a boarding place then, a plain faced, three story, rambling structure said to have been branded by President Johnson in approving the death sentence on Mrs. Surratt as the "nest which hatched the egg" or the plot for Lincoln's murder. Through the years it has stood decaying amid its sinister memories, unmarked among historic buildings of the capital.
Now it is to give way to modern needs. Its walls whose bricks seem still to whisper with almost forgotten intrigues will come toppling down and hardly a sign of the old remain in the glass fronted store the remodelers will erect from the ruins.
By an odd chance, the old building has been occupied until recently by the daughter and grand daughter of a woman who was in girl hood a close friend of Mrs. Surratt. George A. Atzerott and Louis Payne also were arrested there in connection with the plot and in later years there was some talk that the structure might serve as a museum for Lincoln relics, but it never bore fruit. Now the march of progress is to trample over it and obliterate its dark associations forever.

STATE GROWING LARGE BUFFALO HERD IS REPORT

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY.—Based upon growth in the last two years, Oklahoma will have a herd of 100 buffaloes in the next three years. Ben Watt, state fish and game warden, declared here today. From 12 buffalo cows in 1920, ten buffaloes were raised, he said, while in 1919, seven young buffaloes were added to the herd. The herd, roaming in the state game reserve in Medicine Park, now numbers 31 head.
The size of the herd at present is the largest of any state game department in the country, Mr. Watt said, and in the last year Oklahoma set the world record in raising buffaloes for the number of cows owned. No state in the union, according to the American Bison report, raised 50 percent of calves from the number of calves, the warden quoted, while from the 12 cows owned by Oklahoma, 17 were raised in the last two years.

The "stomping ground" of the buffalo herd is the native home of this animal in the early days of the middle west, Mr. Watt said. Over the same ground which the herd now grazes, enormous herds of buffalo roamed in the early day. The adaptability of the location and the hunts in the reserve which are especially appealing to the buffalo is attributed by Mr. Watt for the success with which the herd is increasing.
The rapid extinction of this animal, which in Indian and territorial days of Oklahoma and the west was one of the pioneers, has caused the game department to redouble its efforts to preserve the few remaining on state property in Oklahoma.
Independence Declared
WARSAW, March 9.—The White Ruthenians have proclaimed their independence from Russia according to a Miske report received here today. The Ruthenians reported are probably those inhabiting what is known as White Russia, comprising the southwest Russia province, centering upon Miske.
The police on duty were reduced to the smallest number consistent with the preservation of order.
No Money; No Wheat.
FARGO, N. D.—Farmers of the western section of North Dakota are not planting wheat this year because they have no wheat to plant and because they haven't the money with which to buy seed, says Gordon Randlett, director, extension division, state agricultural college.
"Unless the federal government takes speedy action to help them out, there will be very little wheat planted in that country," he said recently. "Many individuals have no money and there is little money in that section of the state."
Agents of various extension departments of the college tell stories of extreme poverty bravely endured by these residents of the Missouri Slope section of the state.

OKLAHOMA FRUIT NOT DAMAGED YET

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9.—There was little or no damage done to the fruit crop of Oklahoma as a result of last night's low temperature, except possibly in the northwest and panhandle sections, according to the weather bureau here. There is no danger of a freeze tonight added the forecast. Temperatures will raise over the state from 34 to 46 degrees.
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9.—Planting of the commercial crop of potatoes in the east central part of the state has nearly been completed, says the report of the weather and crop condition in the state for week ending March 8, issued at the weather bureau here. A large acreage of oats and potatoes has been planted.
Peaches and plums are in full bloom nearly to the Kansas line, except in elevated regions of the north west portion of the state, according to the report.
Referring to the wheat crop the summary says:
Wheat is making rather too rapid growth this early in the season, but is generally in very good condition. There has as yet been no serious damage by green bugs. Hessian fly is reported in quarters in the north-eastern counties.

RAILROAD COMPANY TO REDUCE WAGES

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 9.—The directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad company today adopted a resolution directing the executive officers "to give as promptly as possible proper notice that it is the intention of the company to reduce the salaries and wages of officials and employees to accord with economic conditions."
The resolution did not specify any amount in the proposed reduction. While no specific officers were mentioned, it is understood at the office of the company it would affect every one from the president of the company down.

Mere Man Causes Much Trouble

Women Engage In Combat for Man's Love

By the Cub
Two women, both residents of the city, engaged in wild and hard combat at the intersection of South Townsend and 13th streets yesterday afternoon near the hour of 5 o'clock, for a reason, whether worth a fight or not, that would interest most people, especially if personally concerned.
The battle raged so furiously and fast and attracted so much attention that a good part of the populace who happened to be in that part of the city were in attendance. Both women acquitted themselves well and proved that when properly started, it was a job to stop them. However, the outcome of the fight is still in doubt as a lover of peace happened along in time to part the two combatants before much personal harm was done. As to whether the two ladies will again engage in a fight for love and country is not known, but many have stated that they wanted to be present if it happened.
A prize fight, a battle royal, a fight between two women or men, or in fact most any kind of fight, was not half so interesting as this one proved to be. No advertisement of the affair was needed to the mere man. Further developments have not as yet taken place, but it is expected that they will and it is expected that they will be interesting. Reserve seats now. I thank you.

SOMETIMES WE SAVE BY SPENDING.

The mistaken assumption often is made that thrift means merely saving money. It is true that money saving is one of the chief fundamental functions of thrift, but a little thought will convince one that it is just as important that we exercise prudence in the conservation of our time, and conserve our health and energies as it is that we lay aside money.

There must be a very marked distinction drawn between saving money and hoarding money. The miser is a menace to progress. There are business concerns that have failed to make advancement because of the miserly of ultra-conservative practices of their directing executives. The same is true of towns and communities.

There must be spending to keep the wheels of industry turning. Just at the present time in this country there is a widespread wave of retrenchment which has brought about the closing down of factories to such an extent that between two and three million working people are out of employment. While this a temporary manifestation which will right itself in the course of time, it serves to illustrate the tremendous effect which the mental attitude of the public may have on business conditions.

The saving of earning or money at the serious sacrifice of one's health is not real thrift. To save money also through the development of habits that are so narrow and miserly that they arrest our development and make us a stumbling block in the pathway of our fellowmen, is not within the meaning of real thrift.

True thrift is a character tonic. The man who indulges in these practices not only grows more independent in a material way, but is better equipped mentally, morally and physically to take his rightful place in the progressive affairs of the world.

Every possible encouragement should be given those who are starting out this new year with the determination of saving and getting ahead but they should bear in mind at the same time that thrift is not limited merely to the saving of money.

Progress, success and happiness will come to those who husband their financial resources. If they are equally thrifty in matters of time, health and energy their progress and success will be proportionately more satisfactory.—S. W. Straus, president American Society for Thrift.

SOVIETISM'S SACRIFICE.

The soviet government at Moscow does not understand why anybody in Russia should be dissatisfied with conditions there but just to show it has no ill will toward the hungry but misguided masses it has appropriated ten million gold rubles to buy food for them. Only it happens—for reasons for which nobody is responsible, of course—there is no food in Russia and it will have to be purchased from the capitalistic countries that have it.

It is a humiliating thing for the soviet government to have to do, this trafficking with capitalism, but it ought to show the waverers who are beginning to doubt the bolshevik theory that the government is willing to make any sacrifice for the public welfare. Although the first principle of its teaching has been the capitalism can produce no good, it will allow capitalism to produce food for what used to be the greatest food producing country in the world. Really, the discontented masses in Russia could hardly expect the soviet to do more, unless they unreasonably want the soviet to quit altogether.—Kansas City Star.

THE SHORTEST MONTH.

In the old days when the Roman rulers had nothing else to worry about, they did something to the calendar.

And February, it appears, was a victim. Originally this perfectly good month had 30 days in leap year and 29 in other years. February is from the Latin, meaning "to purify." It was the custom of the Romans to celebrate the festival of purification in February.

Julius Caesar named July in his own honor—he saw to it there were 31 days in it. Then along came Augustus, and a month was named for him, also. But August had only 30 days. So Augustus looked around and picked on February, which had no one particularly to defend it. He just took a day off February and added it to his own pet month.

That's why February ordinarily has but 28 days, and why August has 31, in keeping with the dignity of its imperious namesake.

SEEKS TO IMPEACH JUDGE K. M. LANDIS

Rep. Benjamin F. Welty.

Representative Benjamin Welty of Ohio has started a movement in the house of representatives to impeach Federal Judge Landis of Chicago for two acts. One is the judge's acceptance of the job of supreme arbiter of baseball. The other is the judge's "radical act" in allowing a bank teller, charged with embezzlement of $95,000, freedom on his own recognizance with the statement that the bank officials were to blame for his act because they paid the teller only $90 a month.

(By the Associated Press)

Reach the Keynote to Beauty
Beauty means so much to women—power, social triumph, admiration and love. Beauty implies good health. Who ever saw a woman racked with pain, struggling with weakness or disease, who could be called beautiful? The woman of today in this high-strung, nervous age is continually overdoing, with the result that ill-peculiar to her sex develop which, unchecked, will ruin all chances for her happiness. The natural restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been recognized as a standard remedy for women's ills, and has done much to relieve pain and restore good health to women.

The Flowers.
The farm home cannot be what it should without flowers. A few flowers and shrubs properly placed will make much improvement in the appearance of the place and give those who plant and care for them considerable pleasure. The profit is usually in the increased value of the farm and the satisfaction of seeing flowers and appreciating their beauty.

We classify flowers as annuals, those that come from seed usually and last but one season; biennials, the plants that bloom the second year from planting; perennials, the herbaceous plants that die down in winter, but spring up again the following spring and continue to grow and bloom in season.

Most annual flower seeds are very small and the seedlings quite delicate. The best plan is to start these in pots, beds or boxes where they may be protected from cold and watered when they need moisture. Some do not stand transplanting, but most of them do.

Among the earliest flowers are sweet peas, poppies and the various bulbous plants. These must have an early start, as they will not stand hot sun and drought. Some of the tender annuals make very attractive bedding plants. A few may be mentioned: Ageratum, alysium, geranium, coleus, vincas, calvi nasturtium, zinnia.

Of the bulbous plants, cannas, narcissus, hyacinth, jonquils, tuberoses, lilies, gladioli, dahlias, caladium. These are suggested merely to remind flower lovers and not to influence them. Most people have their preferences and grow the flowers they most admire.

A good song is none the worse for being sung twice.
Leave your son a good reputation and employment.

Green Bugs Found In Pontotoc County Fields

Leave Trail of Brown and Withered Grain in Their Wake.

County Agent J. B. Hill announces that he has discovered two bunches of the dread "green bug" pest at work on two Pontotoc county farms. One bunch was found in a barley field on the Al Thompson farm, near Fitzhugh, and the other in a barley field on the H. S. Smith ranch, 12 miles south of Ada. In both instances the bugs have already devastated large patches of the growing grain. By looking out over the fields one can mark their course by the brown and withered appearances of the grain from which the assistance has been exacted by the bugs.

While Mr. Hill is satisfied in his own mind as to the identity of the bugs, he secured a great number of them and sent them to the A. & M. College at Stillwater to be examined and reported on by the farm experts there.

In February, of this year, C. E. Sanborn of the Oklahoma A. & M. college, announced that the green bugs were then devastating the north central part of Texas, and expressed the opinion that the infestation would develop and spread thru Oklahoma. At that time a few isolated cases had been reported in the wheat fields of southern Oklahoma but none had been reported in the northern part of the state. It was his opinion that by the first of April the pest will spread clear across Oklahoma and into the wheat fields of Kansas.

The following is a copy of Mr. Sanborn's letter which was printed in the Oklahoma Extension News for March.

Present Status of the Green Bug
By C. E. Sanborn
February 10, 1921—The green bug is an insect which is so entirely different from ordinary pests that the average person understands but little concerning it other than it may suddenly appear, destroy entire fields of wheat and oats, then vanish. It is now present in the southern part of Oklahoma. Mr. Waters, county agent at Marietta, sent some wheat pests to the A. & M. college and I recognized them to be the same pest that did great damage to wheat and oats in Texas the fall of 1906 and in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas in the spring of 1907. They have done much damage at other times but the 1906-7 outbreak was the most serious in the United States.

In this article it is not my intention to go into historical details and peculiarities of the pest but rather to briefly summarize the present conditions for the benefit of the Oklahoma farmers. In accordance with my previous investigations with this pest I will say that it cannot be controlled like many other pests such as the San Jose scale, the melon louse and grasshopper. Therefore we must not expect the oncoming pest to be easily controlled. (It is coming). We must prepare as much as possible in advance for its reception, in order to suffer least from its probable results.

Wheat, oats, rye and barley are its chief food plants. Other farm crops are not seriously infested. Young, one or two leaved, corn plants in fields near large fields of badly infested wheat or oats are sometimes destroyed but corn is not a desirable food for this pest. It is about the same size and is similar in appearance to the cotton or melon louse but this fact should not lead a person to believe that the green bug can live on such plants, because I have experimented with it enough to say that it absolutely can not. The thing to do is to curtail the oat acreage to the minimum. In other words as few acres of oats as possible without interfering with the farm crop plans for the season. Mr. Tanquary, the Entomologist of the Texas A. & M. college, has informed me that green bugs are present in the north central part of Texas. From past experience I have reason to believe that the infestation will develop and spread northward through Oklahoma. As previously stated, they are already present in some of the southern wheat fields of Oklahoma. None are known to be present farther north in Oklahoma.

According to the best judgment that I can render at present I will say the pest will spread clear across Oklahoma and into Kansas before the first of April.

Its parasitical enemies are our only hopes towards its abatement. Present conditions for parasitical development are very poor.

I hope to be able to keep the Oklahoma farmers well posted on this subject until the pest is abated.

SOCIETY

MEMORY.
My mind lets to a thousand things,
Like dates of wars and deaths of kings,
And yet recalls the very hour—
It was noon by yonder village tower
And on the last blue moon in May
The wind came bristling up this way
Crisping the brook beside the road;
Then, pausing here, set down its load
Of pine scents, and shook listlessly
Two petals from that wild-rose tree.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hammons left yesterday afternoon for their home in Konawa after spending the day visiting friends, shopping and looking after business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Leallen left yesterday afternoon on the Frisco for their home in Tulsa after spending two days in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Yandell E. Lala and little daughter of Holdenville, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wilson for the past few days, returned to their home at that place today.

LARGE PER CENT OF ORE IS FOUND IN ARKANSAS

(By the Associated Press)
BAUXITE, Ark.—Bauxite, the basic ore from which aluminum is obtained was discovered in Arkansas in 1891 by Dr. J. C. Branner, president emeritus of Leland Stanford University, and at that time state geologist of Arkansas, but it was not until several years later that mining of this ore on any extensive scale was begun. Since 1910 Arkansas has furnished 80 percent of the bauxite mined in the United States and since 1915 has produced 90 percent of the country's supply. For several years the bauxite mined in the state has represented 75 percent of the world production of the ore.

All the bauxite is mined from open pits, the overburden, or upper strata of earth and rock being removed principally by steam shovel. The stratum of bauxite lies at depths below the surface varying from fifteen to 175 feet, and seldom follows the contours of cut down hill 175 feet high, and take the earth to some point from which the ore has been removed or where there is no underlying stratum or ore.

The operations preliminary to the actual mining of the bauxite, however, take into consideration, the drainage as well as the question of road beds for the mine railways and the economic removal of the ore from pit to mill. Consequently the entire topography as changed by the mining operations, at all stages of the removal of the ore from the present to the time many years hence when the section will be stripped, has been determined in advance, and contour maps show just where the hills will stand twenty years from now, where the valleys and level ground will be, and where streams now flowing through one section will be diverted to maintain the general scheme of drainage.

Conservation of other resources of the land also is practiced, and before operations on any portion of the land are begun, portable saw mills are set up, the timber is cut, and sawed into lumber for use in building operations. The depth of the bauxite, and the thickness of the layer of ore, and its merchantable value as ascertained by analysis, has been determined by drilling. The maximum thickness of the bauxite stratum, twenty five feet but the average is only slightly more than eleven feet.

After the overburden has been removed the ore is taken out by steam shovel or with pick and shovel according to its location and hardness. The appearance of the ore would never suggest aluminum, it being almost white, some red in tone to the average person, and in most of it looks like yellow clay. The color however, varies, some and some it gray, in hardness it varies from the texture of well cemented limestone, which must be blasted, to that of soft clay.

NEW HIGH RATES FOR SAW LOGS TO GO INTO EFFECT

(By the Associated Press)
GREEN BAY, Wis.—The new freight rates for saw logs which will go into effect March 14 when saw log rates will be determined by weight will work a decided hardship on many lumber mills in Wisconsin, Michigan and other states where lumbering is an industry, it is declared by lumbermen here. Determination by weight of logs will make rail charges about $7.70 per thousand feet, the ones which get their logs by rail from points in northern Wisconsin and Michigan.

The former rates were $3.50 per thousand feet which was afterwards increased to $4.16 and later another raise sent the rate to $5.50 per thousand feet, the latter price being paid at the present time. One thousand feet of logs weighs approximately 14,000 pounds.

It is the opinion of saw mill owners that the increase in freight rates for logs may close many mills and also lumber camps in the northern woods. Many million feet of timber has been cut this year they said and the logs are laying where they have fallen, due to the inclement weather. Not enough snow has fallen to take the logs to the railroad to be shipped to the mills.

It is said by lumbermen that to remain in business a lower freight rate than $7.70 per thousand feet will have to be had for lumbermen who get their supply of logs by rail.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Eaton left today for Dallas where they will spend several days looking after business interests and visiting friends. They will also stop in Ft. Worth for a short time before returning home.

IRONIES OF LIFE

"TOMUELSON made a talk to the Commercial club, on 'Business Efficiency,' observed the retired merchant, 'and the next day his store was closed by the sheriff.'"

"Life is full of such ironies, doggone it," said the hotel-keeper. "Low down jokes are being played on the best of us, almost every day, and I often wonder what sort of an evil genius is behind it all."

"I used to know a man who was a wonderful horse breaker. He used to give public exhibitions, taming man-killing brutes, and the way he could make them eat out of his hand, half an hour after being formally introduced to them, was a sight worth going miles to see. He always had immense crowds at his exhibitions, and it seemed that his future was assured. But one day he was leading around a lively stable, just because he liked the atmosphere of the place, and an old, weary hack horse reached out a long, croaky limb, handed him one with it, and broke his leg."

"He had to go to a hospital for a while, and when he came out, his occupation was gone. He was as good a horse breaker as ever, but people wouldn't pay their hard-earned money to see the exploits of a conquering hero who had been manhandled by an old hack horse. You must admit that there was some sardonic intelligence back of such a joke as that. If the man had been hooked by a cow, or run over by a traction engine, or chewed up by an honest watchdog, it wouldn't have hurt his renown and prestige. But, no! A blamed old relic of a horse had to put him out of business."

"A long time ago, a very important case was tried in an Irish court. The people were greatly wrought up over it, and the courtroom was crowded. When it was announced that the jury was ready with a verdict, the judge addressed the audience, saying he knew there was much feeling over the case, but the hall of justice was no place for a display of it, and if there was a least sign of disturbance when the verdict was made known, the guilty parties would be arrested."

"The jury brought in its verdict, and the people heard it in silence, but just then a whole dozzene gallery, with about a thousand people in it, came crashing down, and the noise could have been heard forty miles out at sea. After the judge's solemn warning against a disturbance, the fall of that gallery has always seemed to me like a painful joke."

"A long time ago, I was called upon to address a crowd of voters on the living issues of the day, and I framed up a speech that would have been a credit to any orator. I swiped it from Roscoe Conkling, and I have always insisted that he was one of the greatest of American speakers. The house was full of refined and cultured people, and I was determined to make the hit of my life. I was just getting warmed up to my work, when the lights went out, and the hall was plunged in black darkness. There's nothing makes a man feel more idiotic than to have the lights shut off at such a time. The women in the audience were giggling, and the men hawking. It seemed funny to everybody but me."

"I thought I knew where the little table was, that held the pitcher of ice water, and I moved toward it, and fell over a chair, and flattened my nose against the edge of a piece of scenery. When the lights were flashed on again, as suddenly as they went out, the audience beheld the silver-tongued orator on his hands and knees, climbing slowly to his feet, and trying to mold his nose into its original shape."

"I never saw such a delirious crowd in my life. Some of the women laughed themselves into hysterics, and the fool men weren't much better. They never heard the balance of that oration, and the last part was the best."

Alliteration.

Alliteration occurs sometimes in the writings of the ancients, but not, it is supposed, designedly, as they regarded all echoing of sound as a rhetorical blemish. Cicero, in the "Offices," has this phrase: "Sensim sine sensu aetas senescit;" and Virgil in the "Aeneid," has many marked alliterations. —William Mathews.

Try, Try Again.

"Lottarox was telling me that he has been trying for six months without success to get a passage to see the battlefields of France."

"Evidently the wind has changed. He spent two years trying not to see them, with success."—The American Legion Weekly.

Greatest Revenue.

The internal revenue bureau, in the fiscal year ended June 30, made the greatest annual tax collection since its establishment in 1862.

During 1919 the United States government made more than $3,000,000 from sales of fur seal pelts taken from seals on the Pribilof Islands.

Peach Leaf Curl.

J. A. McClintock,
Georgia Experiment Station

For the past two seasons, leaf curl has been very abundant on unsprayed peach trees in this state.

This disease is due to a fungus, Exoascus deformans (Berk.). The spores of which are scattered about on the trees. These spores germinate in the spring about the time growth starts in the peach trees. The spores which have lodged on buds, produce mycelium or roots which grow into the young leaves as the buds open. The growth of the fungus within the leaves results in a distortion of the tissues, known as leaf curl.

Those who have observed leaf curl know that the diseased leaves fall from the trees early in the season instead of remaining on the trees to manufacture food for wood and fruit development.

The fallen leaves are generally replaced by new leaves from dormant buds so that later in the season the occurrence of leaf curl is not so noticeable. The fact remains, however, that the tree has been required to produce two crops of leaves in one season, and thus the plant food which should have been used to make new fruiting wood, has been used for a second crop of leaves.

When this defoliation occurs year after year through successive attacks of the leaf curl fungus, it may naturally result in a material reduction in the growth and fruit yields of the trees.

It has long been known that the fungus which causes peach leaf curl can be controlled by spraying the trees before the buds open, with a copper spray such as Bordeaux mixture or with sulphur sprays such as are applied during the dormant period for the control of scale. These latter sprays, such as concentrated lime sulphur, are preferable because they kill both the spores of the leaf curl fungus, and scale, while the copper sprays do not kill scale. With a fungus which is so easily controlled by spraying, the presence of leaf curl is generally an indication of neglect. If you spray with one to seven or one to eight concentrated lime-sulphur before the buds open, the first crop of leaves will remain on the trees.

Beware the "Gentle" Bull.

Take no chances with your bull. Because of their strength and energy, bulls are generally dangerous. All bulls are subject to outbursts of violence. These do not necessarily signify that the animal is crazy, but often indicate aggressiveness, vigor and good health. Taking chances with bulls, whether young or old, has caused many violent deaths. The "gentle" bull is as dangerous "as the gun that wasn't loaded." His very nature requires watchfulness and caution in handling him.

Many bulls have been sacrificed because of supposed madness. They have been led to the butcher's block before their worth has really been demonstrated, and as the result breeders have been forced to rely upon young and untried sires.

The bull should be handled in such a way that its keeper is not exposed to attack. It is necessary to have a pen which will make it easy and reasonably safe for the breeder to keep and care for the fiercest animal by avoiding the

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood, and purifying the entire system. They do that which calomel does, without any of the bad after effects. Take one or two every night for a week and note the pleasing effect.

NEW AMBASSADOR FROM CHINA ARRIVES
IN WASHINGTON AT CRITICAL MOMENT

Sac-Ko-Alfred Szo, new Chinese ambassador, and his little daughter, Yin-Chen-Betty.

Sac-Ko-Alfred Szo, new Chinese ambassador to the United States, has reached Washington just in time for a situation having great effect on the oriental world, that is, America's refusal to allow Japan a mandate over the island of Yap. This photograph shows the new ambassador holding his little daughter, Yin-Chen-Betty, upon arriving in this country.

necessity of coming into contact with him. The essential features of safety are found in a plan arranged by the Department of Agriculture at Washington. This plan calls for a large yard for exercise built so that the bull cannot break out, but easy of exit for anyone going into the yard. It should have an adjustable gate by means of which the bull can be turned into his exercise yard or into the stable and held there at the keeper's will, without the keeper having to enter the enclosure. The exercise yard should be connected with the stable in such a manner as to permit securely closing the animal in either place, so as to permit proper cleaning and care of the stable and of the yard. It should be arranged so that the keeper may feed and water the animal without coming into direct contact with him.

It is better to take all precautions, whether or not the bull is believed to be gentle or otherwise.

Our philosopher says: "The every day farmer with his everyday methods is producing the biggest crops the country ever saw, so he'd better get busy trying to learn the best method of getting 'em on the market."

Rules for Automobile Driving.

"Obey the law."

"Consider the other fellow."

"Automobile owners who keep these two thoughts uppermost will help promote safety in driving," says Earl Bonham, local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"In addition, there are ten simple rules that should always be observed. Some of these rules are traffic regulations in most places. But the law varies. Wherever you are obey the laws of that place."

"And remember that considering the other fellow is not only a precaution for his safety but for yours also."

"1. Don't attempt to pass the man ahead if there is a vehicle coming in the opposite direction. Always see that the road is clear."

"2. Don't pass standing street cars discharging or taking on passengers."

"3. Don't 'cut in short' after passing a vehicle."

"4. Don't turn in a busy street except at corners."

"5. Don't cut corners. When making a turn, make allowances for traffic in other directions."

"6. Slow down and sound your horn when crossing or entering another street."

"7. Always give the proper signal when starting, stopping, turning or changing speed may effect other traffic."

"8. Don't forget that the level speed is a safe speed."

"9. Always slow down when you observe children playing near the curb or in the street—they have not the wisdom of adults."

"10. Don't drive your car at all without knowing that brakes and steering gear are all right and that lights and license plates comply with the law."

Garden Pests.

If we would have peace, the militarists tell us to prepare for war. This is true with respect to fighting insect pests of the garden and the orchard. It is too late, usually, when we find cabbage worms in abundance, plant lice literally covering tender plants. We must be prepared for these pests by keeping spray materials and other preparations ready.

There are, generally speaking, two types of insect pests. One bites its food and chews it like animals. These are often classified with reference to poisoning as "biting insects." They may be poisoned. Arsenate of lead, Paris green and other poisons will kill most of these pests. Such as leaf-eating beetles, Colorado potato beetles, etc. The other type is called "sucking insects" because they have no well developed mouth parts, but suck the juices of the plants by means of a proboscis. It is useless to poison these pests. They must be killed by what are called contact poisons, or substances that stop their breathing or kill them by contact. Among these pests are plant lice, bugs, scale insects, slugs, etc.

The insecticides commonly used for chewing insects are arsenate of lead, powdered or paste, London purple, Paris green, Pyrethrum powder. For sucking insects, tobacco dust, black leaf 40, that is nicotine sulphate, kerosene emulsion, whale oil soap, hellebore, etc.

Where a spray is to be used a small knapsack spray pump may be had. For powders, lime with Paris green, arsenate of lead or a dust gun may serve the purpose.

Gardeners should study the seed catalogs and garden guides for spray materials suitable for gardening and orcharding. But those who wait till their vegetables are badly infested to order will hardly save the vegetables. We should "watch as well as pray," watch and spray in gardening if we would protect our garden plants.

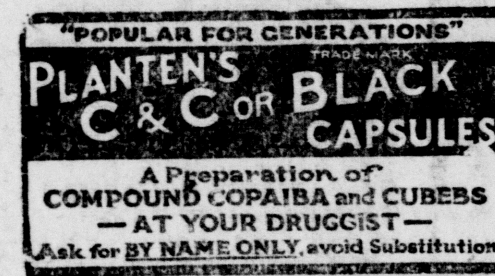

The center of population as shown by the 1920 census is located in the southeast corner of Owen county Indiana. It has advanced 9.8 miles westward in the last decade.

HOW DOCTORS
TREAT COLDS
AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk
Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel
Tablets that are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—(Adv.)

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

All of a sudden Jimmy Jones, the fat little woodchuck, greeted Mary Jane

Mary Jane's Visit To Grandma Susan

ONE day, Mary Jane went to visit her grandmother, who lived up the road a piece. She had a lot of groceries her mother told her to give grandma. And she had a nice "sandwich" of two slices of bread, with a whole lot of Mary Jane Syrup spread on them.

Well, she was about half way to Grandma Susan's when she said, "I guess I'll eat my nice spread of bread and Mary Jane Syrup, so I'll be strong, and able to run errands, if Grandma wants me to."

So she sat down and started to eat when a big, fat woodchuck, named Jimmy Jones, came right up alongside where Mary Jane was sitting, and said: "Mary Jane, won't you give me a little piece of bread with that lovely syrup on it?" So Mary Jane gave a piece of it to him.

Jimmy said "m-m-m-m"—once or twice, but he didn't say anything else till he was all finished. Then he said, "If folks only knew how good this is they'd eat Mary Jane Syrup for every meal, wouldn't they, Mary Jane?"

And then he gave her his arm, and they went to Grandma Susan's together, where Jimmy Jones helped Mary Jane to mow the lawn.

"BETTER LUCK NEXT TIME," CHIRPS BATTLE ON RETURN FROM EUROPE

Battling Levinsky and Mrs. Levinsky.

Battling Levinsky, light heavyweight glove slinger, is back in the U. S. after a fruitless visit to England. He went there mainly to fight Bombardier Wells the night Pete Herman laced Jimmy Wilde all over the ring. The Battler, however, fractured a bone in his elbow just before the night of the bout and had to cancel the engagement. Other plans for matches in Europe also failed. "Maybe I'll have better luck next time I go over," says Levinsky.

Regarding Fire Escapes.

The fire escapes at the High school building were placed there to safe guard life. They are there for that purpose and that alone. Since their installation, however, they are being misused and abused and Saturdays and Sundays. In fact, if boys are allowed to continue to climb up them and on the building as they have been doing some boy is going to be seriously injured or killed as a result. The Board of Education, therefore, takes this method of notifying the public that children must not use these fire escapes except for the purpose for which they were built and that any further misuse of them on Saturday or Sunday or at any other time will be considered as trespassing and dealt with accordingly. Notice to this effect has been placed on each fire escape.—Board of Education. 3-9-41d

Nearly a Million Telephones Installed During Last Year

The addition of 594,820 telephones to the Bell system in 1920, bringing the grand total to 8,333,979 on January 1, this year, did not entirely meet the demand for service, according to the annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, released today.

"In Oklahoma" said Manager Carrie Dunn of the local exchange, "more than 15,500 telephones were added by our company last year. Withal there are still people who want telephones and cannot get them because of lack of facilities.

There are 10,500 separate telephone companies in the United States. These companies and Bell companies made a net increase of 806,188 telephones in 1920 bringing the total number of telephones in the United States up to 12,601,737. A daily average of 33,162,000 connections were handled over these telephones.

To add 594,820 telephones the Bell company made net additions last year amounting in money to $147,822,100, representing an increase of $74,436,100 over the additions made during 1919. This year's annual report shows that the Bell system is owned by 139,400 individuals. Including the employees stockholders there are more than 500 individuals residing in Oklahoma who own stock in the American company.

SEEKING HAPPINESS.
There is food for thought in the letters being written to the Evening News by the unhappy married readers of this paper. While the letters reveal in many instances sordid conditions which are not pleasant to think of, they also serve to show that happiness can come only with righteous living. Righteous living means a fair and square deal for your partner and living in accord with the laws of nature. Therein lies the secret of a happy marriage.

Unquestionably, the first requisite of a happy marriage is love, but it must be given in full measure with mutual devotion. Petty selfishness must be forgotten. There must be a willingness to give and take on both sides. There must be faith. Love cannot live when faith is crushed.

Selfishness, mistaking of characters, wrong living and faithlessness are the obstacles of happiness. All the other things are but trifles which crown the unhappiness caused by one of these, trifles which come up in the lives of us all but which are unnoticed when there is love and a willingness to give and take.

Marriage, they say, is a mighty serious step. But marriage is ordained by God.

"For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh."

Happiness is the eternal goal, the mecca toward which our faces are ever turned in the pilgrimage of life. We cannot be happy by causing unhappiness to others. The lure of vain desire is a trap often stumbled into in the quest for happiness.

There is a story of a youth who, far back in the days of kings, bridged the gulf of birth between them and fell in love—dared fall in love—with a beautiful princess. He was placed before two closed doors. Behind one was the princess of his dreams waiting with love and open arms. Behind the other was a den of gaping, hungry lions.

"Choose!" the multitude shouted, and he opened one of the doors, stepped beyond the portal and closed it softly behind him. His fate is left to the reader's imagination.

So it is in the quest for happiness. We stand before two doors. Behind one lies love and faith. Behind the other is the gilded pleasure palace of vain desire. Lurking in the shadow of one room are the wolves, despair and bitter regret. In the other room is happiness. But behind which door are we to find happiness?

Read the letters from the unhappy married readers of the Evening News and leave the rest to your imagination.

AN ACTOR OF LESSER ROLES.

Although he generally was cast for lesser roles in his stage appearance during 60 years, George Giddens, who died a few days ago in New York, never failed to score a personal triumph in any play in which he appeared.

This veteran actor, who was 75 years old, began his stage career in England with Sir Charles Wyndham when 15 years old. Before Sir Charles "discovered" him, Giddens was a store clerk in Middlesex. He played with Wyndham in America in 1871 and again in 1877 and was the great actor almost continuously until 1891. At the height of his career, Giddens was considered one of the foremost low comedians of the English speaking stage.

Of the many plays in which he appeared, George Giddens is best remembered for two roles—that of Toney Lumpkin in "She Stoops to Conquer," and as William, the waiter in "You Never Can Tell." He played the former role in America in 1906 and 1907 with William H. Crane and Ellis Jeffreys, and again in 1912 with Annie Russell. He last acted in "You Never Can Tell" about six seasons ago with Arnold Daly. Since 1906 Giddens had spent most of his time in the United States.

Having shown their ability to borrow money some feel that they have made good in business.

Time has now come when a plumber can go out on a piping job even if he isn't wearing a silk shirt.

ON KEEPING THE SABBATH.
Some 1900 years ago in the city of Jerusalem there went on a discussion concerning Sabbath observance, similar to the one now in progress.

A preacher was going about proclaiming ideals new to the times. He shocked conservatives with new interpretations of Sabbath proprieties. His name was Jesus.

According to the gospel of Luke, Jesus was teaching on the Sabbath day. And he beheld a woman "that had a spirit of infirmity 18 years."

"And when Jesus saw her He called her, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And He laid His hands upon her; and immediately she was straight and glorified God."

Thereupon, a man opposed to Jesus and His teaching was "moved with indignation because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath." This man arose and addressed the multitude, saying, "There are six days in which men ought to work; in them, therefore, come and be healed and not on the day of the Sabbath."

"But the Lord answered him and said, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox from the stall and lead him to the watering? And ought not this woman whom Satan had bound, lo, these 18 years, to have been loosed from this bond on the day of the Sabbath?"

On two other occasions Jesus clashed with the leading citizens of the community over Sabbath observance. On one of these occasions He healed a man with a withered hand and in response to protests He said:

"I ask you, is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good, or to do harm? to save life or to destroy it?"

He also gave a sharp answer to the "scribes and Pharisees" who protested because His disciples had plucked grain from the field and eaten it on the Sabbath.

Thus, it will be observed, the question, "What shall and shall not be done on the Sabbath?" dates from the dawn of the Christian era.

And generally, as in the case of Jesus himself, the question has been answered as condition, common sense and necessity dictated.

So far, Mexico has not intervened in this country to put down the crime.

The family must not expect to have the privilege of riding in the hired girl's new automobile.

What Others Say

Daily Ardmoreite: We will hail with delight the return of the festive prune to a price of "normalcy."

Cushing News: Senator Wallace charged the administration had slated Bob Davidson for president pro tem of the senate to prevent an investigation of the pardoning of Bill Creekmore. No need to investigate, just fix the penalty for this act.

Okmulgee Democrat: A "bad check" law with teeth will be enacted by the next legislature if the sentiment of the retail business men and others who have been victimized by the "professional bad check artist" has any influence with the legislature.

Vinita Daily Journal: That the graves cover a lot of secrets is again proven by the confession of a negro preacher that he killed a Vinita man whom a coroner's jury declared came to his death by natural causes.

Chickasha Express: In other words, if you want your anatomy massed up by a car, you needn't go all the way to Paris. "Trade at home." All you have to do is to wade across the street without looking around you.

Tulsa Tribune: A Kentucky rural newspaper says a sheep bolted through the window of a hardware store and helped himself to the fruits and nuts therein. We suppose if that sheep had really desired hardware he would have gone to a fruit store.

Pittsburg County Guardian: The report that Clara Smith has had to go to a hospital on account of a nervous breakdown is not nearly so interesting to the public as would have been the news that the dope-writers about her case had all been sent up for treatment.

Muskogee Times-Democrat: Cyrus Avery of Tulsa, one of the biggest farmers of the state, told the Ad club Monday that Muskogee's biggest opportunity lies in the promotion of the agricultural resources of this section of the state, and in building better roads, as agriculture and road building go hand in hand. No truer words were ever spoken, and no sounder advice ever given a city.

New York State Will Take Steps to Stop Crime Wave

(By the Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Legislators in this state served notice during New York's crime wave that at the next session they intend introducing measures to provide greater punishment for highwaymen and burglars.

With daring robberies becoming every day occurrences, the courts here quickly decided to mete out maximum punishment wherever possible and raised bail to insure keeping criminals behind bars.

A study of existing laws in various states shows that in three, burglary is punishable by death and in four, robbery—should the maximum punishment be applied.

First degree burglary will be punished by death in North Carolina and Virginia by means of electricity and in Delaware by hanging. Alabama and Virginia's laws provide the maximum of death in robbery cases, while Nevada specifies death for train robbers and Texas for robbery accomplished by means of deadly weapons.

Several states provide for life imprisonment or for "any term up to life" in burglary cases. The life penalty thus is possible in Massachusetts, Florida, Iowa, Ohio, Rhode Island and South Carolina, while in Maine the law merely provides "any term of years" making it possible to impose a sentence which virtually means life. New York, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota accomplish the same end by stipulating that burglary shall be punished by "not less than ten years."

Other states vary from maximum punishments of forty years in Utah and thirty years in New Hampshire to only seven years in Arkansas. The heaviest fine possible for the offense is in Pennsylvania, which provides "not over ten years and $10,000."

Robbery may be punished by life imprisonment in Idaho, Rhode Island, Texas, Oregon, Utah, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan and Hawaii. California provides for "not less than one year." The least severe penalty is that of Connecticut which stipulates "not more than seven years." In most states the maximum varies from fifteen to twenty years.

In view of present conditions, however, bills are being prepared for introduction in several states to increase the maximum penalty to death or life imprisonment.

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued during the past week:

TULSA TO SPEND FIFTY MILLION FOR BUILDINGS

(By the Associated Press.)

TULSA, Jan. 8.—Approximately $50,000,000 will be spent in Tulsa during the ensuing year in the construction of public, semi-public and private buildings, according to a survey of structures now under contemplation for building, as announced in a report by the chamber of commerce. Work on some of the new buildings will begin within a few days, it was declared.

Under a $3,000,000 program will go the parking, sanitary and storm sewers, the report said. Buildings expected to cost approximately $3,500,000 are to be built which, under the proposals, include a hospital, a new Masonic temple, Methodist Episcopal church, high school addition and a Knights of Pythias hall. Following these semi-public buildings, excavation has already been started on the site where a new 10-story building is to be built, together with several other smaller structures which are expected to expend a total of ten million dollars.

The University of Tulsa and the Oklahoma Central University contemplate an expenditure of five million dollars during 1921.

Latta Consolidated District.
It has been some time since word from the residents of this district have been heard from but they are strong in their wanting all to know that they still have the 'pep' and are on the map. Everybody in the district is reported to be in the best of humor and everything is progressing nicely.
The boys' basketball suits have been received, having arrived some time ago. The team is well represented and the school is for them. In a recent game played with the Ada High school second team they won with a score of 20 to 7.
The girls' are also showing up well with their team. A good record has been made during the past season and they expect to play several more games in the near future.
Rev. Davis conducted church services and preached at the Latta school last Sunday. Work of organizing a Sunday school was considered and partly completed at that time. Rev. Davis was elected superintendent and Lillie Wanson was elected secretary. Teachers will be chosen next Sunday and other organization work will be done. All the residents of this district are invited to attend next Sunday and the Sunday's following and help make the school a success.
The parents of the district are especially asked to take part in the Sunday school work. All who are interested in the district's welfare and for the welfare of the young people are asked to take active part. The older people are wanted for teachers and by attending the Sunday services they will be of great assistance. It will take to make a great success of this undertaking and as all other communities have Sunday schools it is only proper that this district should have a school for its people.
A BOOSTER.

Boasts Comes from Maxwell.
A boosting resident of Maxwell said word that that place is still on the map. Although the past crop was devoted mostly to raising cotton the farmers in this community are planning to plant more grain and other farm products more profitable than cotton has proven to be. The business men of the city are in high spirits and business is reported to be good. Everybody in the city is busy and preparations for the coming year are well under way. The Maxwell school is reported to be in a better condition this year than it has been for many years. It is under the direction of Prof. J. R. Hughes, who is ably assisted by Misses Enid Holloway and Norman. There are more than a hundred students enrolled and the class of work is the best.

Bob Brooks of Fitzhugh and his father of Stratford were in Maxwell one day of this week looking after real estate business.

A evening of singing was enjoyed by a large crowd at the home of Dr. Byrnes Sunday night. Preaching services were also held at the school house Sunday. Other services will be held next Sunday and all are invited.

Oscar Flowers of Maxwell made a business trip to Ada Saturday of last week.

Grandpa Davidson, the Maxwell mail carrier, died at his home Feb. 25 and was buried in the Maxwell cemetery Feb. 26. He was a friend to everybody and his departure was grieved by them all.

Several of the Maxwell younger people attended the pie supper given by the Summer Chapel school last week.

Misses Geneva and Ned Norman were home from Ada, where they have been attending school, last week-end to spend a few days visiting parents and friends.
A pie supper will be held at Maxwell Friday night of this week by the Maxwell school. A large attendance is expected.

Miss Flossie Summers, who has been teaching near Byars, was a week-end visitor with her parents.

Miss Pearl Hightower was in the Summer Chapel neighborhood over the week-end visiting her friend, Miss Syble White.

Mr. and Mrs. Light and family were in Stratford Saturday of last week on business.

What Every American Should Know About His Country and Its Opportunities

Samuel Rea, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Began Railroad as a Member of the Engineer Corps.

IN no other country can there be found so many instances where men have risen from humble beginnings to positions of power and influence in the industrial world. The railroads furnish many notable examples of poor boys who became great executives. Samuel Rea began railroading as a member of engineering corps whose work was to blaze the way for new railway lines and to construct bridges and viaducts. Now he is President of the great Pennsylvania Railroad System which controls over 27,000 miles of railways, owns property worth two billion dollars and employs more than 250,000 men.
Fred D. Underwood, President of the Erie, and Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore and Ohio, began railroading at about the same time. Underwood as brakeman and Willard as fireman. They worked together on the same train. Alfred H. Smith, President of the New York Central Lines learned practical railroading as a member of a construction crew building and other railroad structures. He advanced by degrees from one position to another until today he holds a foremost position in the railroad world. Every

WILL HOLD CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH AT HAVANA, WED- (By the Associated Press)

HAVANA, Mar. 8.—The world's chess championship match beginning here tomorrow between Jose Capablanca of Cuba and Dr. Emanuel Lasker, who won the title in 1894, recalls the interesting fact that although the game dates back for centuries the first credited world's championship was decided only 70 years ago. This was won by Professor Anderssen, of Breslau, in an international tournament of chess masters in London.

Paul Morphy, an American prodigy, was the next holder of the title, defeating Anderssen and other Continental experts in Europe a few years later. Upon Morphy's retirement, W. Steinitz, of Austria and the United States, was acclaimed champion after defeating Anderssen in 1886 in a series of match games. Steinitz held the title until 1894 when Lasker defeated him in a match.

Lasker proved his superiority in matches with Marshall in 1907, Tarrasch 1908, Janowski 1909 and Schlechter and Janowski in 1910. Capablanca challenged in 1911 but the two experts were unable to agree upon terms for the match.

During the great war the small "war game" was obscured until brought back to prominence through an offer of a purse of $10,000 by a Havana club last year for a championship match between Lasker and Capablanca. It was reported that Lasker had yielded the title to the Cuban player because he lacked support for a match but later he was prevailed upon to accept the Havana offer.

Capablanca, who has represented Cuba in Russia in the diplomatic service, possesses a record that earned him the right to challenge for world honors. In 1909 he disposed of Marshall, American champion in a match, winning eight games, losing one and drawing 14. In 1911, the Cuban won the national tournament at New York and an international tournament at San Sebastian. He captured the New York national tournament in 1913 and won a tournament of Russian experts in 1914. Capablanca overwhelmed Kostich, the Serbian master, in a match at Havana in 1919, winning five games in succession and causing his opponent to resign from further play. In the same year, Capablanca won the international tournament at Hastings, England.

During the past year the foreign trade in the Philippine Islands was the best in history.

Five Burglaries Committed In One Night at Francis

Mea from the sheriff's office are at Francis today investigating five burglaries which occurred at that place last night.

It is said that four stores and the First National bank were entered by the thieves. Some money was taken from each of the stores and two pistols and two cheap watches from one of them. The most taken from any of the stores was $70. Nothing was taken from the bank.

Full details of the robberies have not been learned as the Evening News goes to press with the evening edition.

"HUMORESQUE" NEXT MONDAY AND TUESDAY AT MESWAIN

There are only a few really great photoplays each season—pictures that grip you and make a lasting impression. "Humoresque" belongs among these select few. It has qualities which raise it high above the average.

It is the story of a lad with a soul for music and the great unselfish mother-love that helped him to the high place he came to occupy. And of the beautiful girl who stood by him in poverty and in riches and in the great crisis of his life saved him from himself.

Rich in the joy and tears of life, "Humoresque" is close to every heart. We will show this picture Monday and Tuesday, March 14 and 15. It is a cosmopolitan production perfectly presented and a Paramount Artcraft picture. Alma Rubens is the featured player.

Four hundred and twenty thousand people enter and leave New York City daily in automobiles.

SHIP LOAD OF TARGETS TO BE USED BY JACKIES

Norfolk, Va., Mar. 9.—A ship load of targets, big, little and medium sized and made to float or fly has been forwarded to Guantanamo for destruction by the Jackies of the Atlantic fleet during the spring gun practice. The supply ship Lebanon carried 16,000 pieces of target material when she nosed out to sea, including the huge box-floats on her decks at which the 14-inch triplets of dreadnaught main batteries will be turned loose.

Fresh from joint maneuvers with the Pacific fleet in the Pacific, navy youngsters are expected by officers at the base here to show a high degree of skill with their long nosed shooting irons this year. They have added zest for their work in the playtime they put in with Admiral Wilson cruising on the Pacific coast of South America. The officers, mayhap, had to attend many formal banquets and ceremonies of reception at ports visited, but the bluejackets got a chance to prow about ashore and load up with impressions of picturesque tropical cities new to them. They will have a lot to tell the folks at home when the Pennsylvania points the way north for the fleet in April and Jack gets shore liberty in home ports.

Every device for testing the skill of the gunners is included in the target shipment. There are medium sized affairs for the 5-inch crews to hammer at in beating off imaginary destroyer attacks; things like submarine periscopes to practice shooting up "tin fish" on, and kite targets for the topside gunners to pepper with anti-air craft barages. There were also supplies for the mine planter force, with which to practice laying a few "eggs" from which great explosions and wrecked enemy craft hatch in war time! and dummy mines to be swept up by the "clean-up" flotilla.

The air force of the fleet is to co-operate in the shooting tests, spotting the fall of projectiles and "tipping" the big surface craft to the location of "enemy" targets over the horizon. They will also do a little bomb dropping on their own account and a supply of the latest type of these disturbers of the peace went down on the Lebanon for their use.
